Raising Aspirations Aims

- To increase interactive and participatory learning.
- To develop a listening campaign, in which responds to student and parent perceptions and needs.
- To promote a culture of respect for local people, local culture and local values.
- To broaden students' horizons by offering experiences and opportunities they would not otherwise get. (Culture capital)
- To develop a culture of achievement and 'belonging' in a school.
- To offer a rich and relevant curriculum to meet the needs and aspirations of all students.
- To build students' repertoire of spoken and written communication.
- To develop students' social, emotional and behaviour needs.
- To support students at important moments in their lives, especially transition points.
- To develop effective rewards and incentive schemes.